A NOD TO NATURE

Flower Wall Art / Teak Root Coffee Table

Flower, flower on the wall, who's the brightest of them all?

New introductions include nods to nature, from kicky floral wall art to tables made of natural roots and slabs.

Flower Wall Art

We at Phillips Collection love to mix it up by pairing warm wood tones with pale, crisp hues. Stir in the textural accents and our reputation as mix-masters is cemented!

We make sure the products we bring to market are far from garden variety: hanging planters, wall art made from jaunty twisting twigs join sculptures and tables that imitate rocks and roots.

Whether you call them patio pleasers, terrace attractions, or loggia lovelies, we have planters that stand out for their durable materials and their dashing designs.

Our planters are commanding enough to stand up to public pavilions, town squares, parks, or colonnades. But heft doesn't equal heavy, as these design statements are made of composite.

RUGGED GOOD LOOKS

Combining specimens of age-old wood that we've rescued from being nature's finest castaways with artful elements that were inspired by them is a sleight of hand we so enjoy!

Inverted Pyramid Side Tables / Broken Egg Wall Art

Any designer will tell you that texture brings interest to a room. We have patina aplenty in our product lineup, from jagged edges that command a wall to woodgrain that wows.

Our philosophy at Phillips Collection: if you're going to compete, why not go for the gold! Our finish artisans are some of the best in the business for award-winning luster.

LET'S PLAY!

Atlas Wall Decor

Chainsaws and metal fabrication tools may not immediately call whimsy to mind for many, but it does for us as we cut into wood for maximum movement and give fanciful figures a stage.

PEOPLE PLEASERS

Walking into a space in which pieces from our Atlas Collection are at play makes it near impossible not to smile. Creating an irresistible charm in interiors is an abiding passion for us.

When you think about sourcing natural wood elements from the forest floor, soulfulness is at the heart of the matter. The life rings of a former tree bring a textural edge to each piece.

Atlas Screen / Brianna String Planter

We stop at nothing to use every single part of a tree we've rescued from the jungle. It's not only the right thing to do; it pushes us to be our most creative selves as we design.

DO THE MATH

When the word geometric is bandied about, a host of symmetrical shapes come to mind. We blow right past these by combining clean-lined elements with shape-defying woodgrain.

WE'RE PUZZLED

Any way you slice it, taking puzzle pieces from trees and arranging them into fine furnishings is in our DNA at Phillips Collection. They read just as cleverly on the wall as they do on the floor.

In our eyes, the forested wood furnishings we create are ancient beings who bring authenticity to a room. The fissures they exhibit were achieved in a sum of years we humans cannot fathom.

HEAVY METAL

We're mad about metal at Phillips Collection, whether it has a luminous sheen or is seriously striated to make it read like it's been antiqued. When designing with alloys, we take the deep dive.

MOLTEN MAGIC

Not only do we create striking objects from metal, we have a knack for composing furnishings in composite and treating each piece to finishes that perfectly mimic their mined counterparts.

The word finish is an all-encompassing one for our design team, as a piece isn't done until it is finely finished. Many of our products out-shine the competition in every way.

Achieving life-like replicas of the forms that fascinate us is an obsession of ours when we are brainstorming as a design team. Over the years, we have assembled a captivating "cast" of characters.

GOLDEN STATE

It may be obvious we're not afraid of bling at Phillips Collection. We'd go so far as to say we're fearless when it comes to continually adding bright new things to our offerings.
